

AGED COUPLE AND UNKNOWN FOUND SLAIN

Former's Savings Of $8,000 Missing In Kentucky Crime

BULLETIN

Bloomfield, Ky., Oct. 24.—(AP)—The remains of a roll of money, almost destroyed by fire, was found today while Sheriff T. B. Peake and other officers sought clues to solve the slaying of three persons whose charred bodies were found yesterday in the ruins of a farm house near here. The discovery showed that if robbery was the motive for the tragedy that cost the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Lud Ingram, reclusive farm couple, and an unidentified man, the intruders did not obtain all of their money.

Officers learned today the Ingrams had not withdrawn funds at banks at Bloomfield or Chaplin, as had been rumored. The couple was reputed, however, to keep a considerable sum at their home. The roll of bills, mostly charred ashes, was found by Officer Murphy, a neighbor ten feet from where the body of Mrs. Ingram had been found. The denomination of the twenty-five or thirty bills in the roll could not be determined.

Bloomfield, Ky., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Lacking tangible clues, Nelson county authorities under Sheriff T. B. Peake today sought evidence which might aid them in their investigation of the killing of three persons whose charred bodies were found yesterday in the ruins of a farmhouse near here.

That robbery was the underlying cause of the tragedy that took the lives of an unidentified man and Mr. and Mrs. Lud Ingram, reclusive farm couple, was the belief generally expressed by authorities. Neighbor of the Ingrams, both of whom were about 70 years of age, found the bodies after the four-room frame home occupied by the couple had been badly damaged by fire.

Drew $8,000 From Bank
Authorities said the Ingrams were reported to have drawn their savings, approximately $8,000, from a bank only recently. It was a report that caused them to advance the robbery theory.

The unidentified man had been shot through the head. Under the body was a pistol from which two shots had been fired. Near the Ingrams' bodies was another pistol, with one chamber empty and the bullet apparently recently discharged.

Deputies said they believed the unidentified man shot the Ingrams.

Illness To Cost Dems' Tunney's Vote—

Stamford, Conn., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Gene Tunney's illness has cost the Democratic party a vote.

A patient at doctor's hospital in New York where he is recovering from a throat infection, the former world's heavyweight champion was unable to appear Saturday before the Board of Registration to be sworn in as a voter.

Tunney asked the board if it were possible for him to appear at a later date, but was informed that 8 P. M. Saturday was set by law as the dead-line for swearing voters.

Tunney has been campaigning for the Democratic ticket.

and in turn was shot by one of them. What appeared to be bullet wounds were found in the aged couple's heads.

Either the pistol fire or an overturned coal oil lamp started the fire, authorities believed.

No Trace of Money
No trace of the money believed to have been hidden in the house was found.

Another theory studied by the investigators was that two intruders entered the home, slew the Ingrams, fired the house in an effort to conceal the crime, and then quarreled over the loot, one of them killing his companion and fleeing with the money. This theory was given credence by reports that a large automobile was seen parked near the Ingram home several hours before Herbert Holt, a newspaper carrier, discovered the fire. No trace of the car has been found.

The body of the unidentified man was so badly burned that authorities said identification would be impossible.

DIXON MAN WAS VICTIMIZED IN AUTOMATIC CORP.

Governor Roosevelt Was Director Of Hold- ing Concern

A local man who lost $1,000 in the deal referred to in the following story taken from the Chicago Tribune of October 23, says that when it was represented to him that Franklin D. Roosevelt, the governor of New York, was heavily interested in the concern, and that he bought the stock on the strength of that statement, to find out later he had been swindled. The Tribune says:

As the President's special train was preparing to pull out of the capital a vigorous personal attack was being fired in nearby Maryland at Gov. Roosevelt by Senator Daniel O. Hastings, Delaware Republican. To the Democratic candidate's recent assertions that the Republican administration had allowed Wall street operators and unprincipled promoters to fleece the public Senator Hastings replied, asserting that Gov. Roosevelt had himself been party to a promotion scheme resulting in large losses to investors.

According to the Delaware senator the New York governor was a director of the Consolidated Automatic Merchandising corporation organized in May, 1928, as a holding company to acquire the stock of five companies manufacturing and licensing slot machines. A total of $11,000,000 of stock was offered in units of $55 each. Senator Hastings asserted. Promotion literature estimated the earnings for the first five years at 44½ million dollars at "conservative" figures.

Alluring Prospectus

"I doubt whether any more alluring prospectus was ever published," Senator Hastings declared. "With Franklin D. Roosevelt's good name standing back this company, as a director it was perfectly possible for an unsuspecting public to believe that these net profits for the company would be realized. But let the records show the result. Instead of a profit of more than $2,000,000 the first year the loss was $458,580. Instead of a profit of nearly $4,000,000 the second year the loss was $831,484. Instead of a profit of nearly $9,000,000 the third year the loss was $884,510.

"I think it cannot be disputed that this very corporation, on a claim that the language used by Gov. Roosevelt in his recent article entitled 'Theft Within the Law,' Senator Hastings said, 'Bear in mind that I do not in any sense charge him with fraud or attempted fraud. He may have simply been the victim of unscrupulous promoters.'

MOTHER KILLED THREE CHILDREN; NOW HYSTERICAL

Chicago Widow Now Realizes Crime She Committed Friday

Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Hysteria seized Mrs. Inez Carrell, Chicago widow who slew her three children in a hotel bathtub, as she realized fully today the results of her despondency over financial affairs.

She regained full consciousness after periods of coma which gripped her since last Saturday night when she was found in the throes of an attempt at suicide over the bodies of her babies.

Several attendants were required to hold her upon her hospital bed and her condition forced the coroner to postpone the inquest temporarily. He said she probably would be removed to the county jail in Charleston in several days.

Faces Murder Charge

Mrs. Carrell, who is 29, has been under arrest and constant guard since Saturday. State's Attorney C. M. Heinlein said murder charges would "no doubt be placed against her soon." Authorities said they feared another suicide attempt.

Her sisters, Mrs. Carrie Davis and Miss Berna Steed of Chicago, are staying with Mrs. Carrell's mother-in-law, Mrs. Nora Carrell in Charleston.

They questioned their sister concerning a love affair she had recently. Mrs. Carrell told them and reiterated in a statement to the coroner, that she had an affair with a man who gave her a fictitious name but she broke it off when she discovered the "trick." He called on her in Chicago last month, she said, but the fact had nothing to do with her despondency.

The mother-in-law of the young widow said she had told of losing $3,500 of life insurance money left by her husband when he died in 1927, after investing it in utilities of the Insull group.

The younger Mrs. Carrell previously had told the coroner she "killed her children because she lost her job, lost her husband's life insurance money, and had no one to depend on."

The State's Attorney made public a letter written by Mrs. Carrell to her mother-in-law several days ago. It told of her love of her children.

"They have never been a burden to anyone and I don't want them to be," it said. "It is so hard for a woman with children to manage alone. My life has been an uphill struggle since my husband died."

She had admitted killing the children, but failed in a suicide attempt.

Stupified by a sleeping potion, the children—Mary Ellen, 5; Robert, 7, and June, 10—were drowned in a hotel bathtub here Friday. Mrs. Carrell took poison but sank into a coma as she staggered toward the tub. Hotel employees found her and the children's bodies, Saturday night.

NEIGHBOR HELD FOR KIDNAPING 8-YR.-OLD GIRL

New Jersey Child Is Victim Of Attempted Attack

Newark, N. J., Oct. 24.—(AP)—Police announced today that Anna Kleinhandler, eight-year-old kidnap victim, had identified Samuel Morris as the man who lured her into a woods near Springfield, and attempted to attack her. The girl, who previously had charged Morris, was quoted by Chief of Police McReel as saying she feared Morris would kill her if she identified him.

The girl, abducted from the vicinity of her home last night, emerged from a woods near Springfield Golf Club early today and told her story to a farmhand, Eugene Murphy, who took her to Springfield police headquarters.

Morris is a neighbor who attempted to cash a check at a store operated by the girl's parents last Friday. When Mrs. Kleinhandler refused, Morris went away saying, "You'll be sorry."

Police Surgeon Mitchell examined Anna and found her throat had been cut with a penknife and she had been stabbed above the heart. He said an attempt had been made to assault her. None of her injuries was serious. She was taken to the City Hospital.

Morris also was identified by a taxi driver, Michael Roselle, who drove the man and the girl from Newark to Springfield, police said.

BROOKS REPLIES TO WINGERT ON WATER QUESTION

Says the Former City Attorney Erred In His Article

Commissioner H. A. Brooks, replying to former City Attorney E. E. Wingert's communication to the Telegraph, concerning the city's proposal to purchase the Dixon Water Co., submits the following for publication:

Mr. Wingert's article in which he so tenderly refers to his adopted child "The Water Company" is amusing to any one who knows the facts. In one place in his article he refers to action of the City Council as being so generous to his child, and, in another place, he contends that certain aspirants as being all wrong and against the fact when they claim that $350,000 was all the water works was worth. We, who have been meeting with Mr. Wingert during the last twelve months know by his remarks that he was most highly prejudiced against the city of Dixon and in favor of the Water Company. His voice alone among the five men, the five members of the city council and the five citizens of Dixon who constituted the committee to protect the interest of the water consumers in the negotiations for the purchase of the water works was the only dissenting voice in the committee.

Now let us look into this matter. After twelve months of investigation and study of the question of purchasing the water works the committee were satisfied from written documents and the statements of experts, who appeared before the city council that it was advisable to take over the water works. Pursuant to this the city council had the ordinance prepared to take over the water works (Continued on Page 7)

DEVISE YOUR OWN COLOR SCHEME, SAYS PARIS; BEHOLD, SLIT SKIRT'S BACK

Bi-Color Scheme Replaces the One-tone Idea

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
(NEA Service Writer)

Paris, Oct. 17.—It is very evident, now that the master couturiers have divulged their ideas on next season's mode that the "matching" days are a thing of the past. Just as though a magnetic current had passed through them all, they all seem to have agreed, for once, on two-toned dresses.

To earn the title of "really chic" this coming fall, a woman will be bound to adopt the bi-color dress. The plain black or uni-colored ensemble is finished. Finished also the worry of exactly matching her dress, shoes, hat and gloves to the color of her winter coat. Smartness will be gauged from the most artistically contrasting accessories.

There is, however, a considerable catch in this new fashion, for every woman will suddenly be called upon to develop her color sense and divine which color is best set off by another. Some will do this instinctively, and theirs will be all the glory of achievement, enhanced by the knowledge that they will not be likely to see their ideas reproduced ten thousand times.

The best day colors will be all the dark wine reds and browns, grays, henna, rust, very dark greens and some black. For formal afternoon and evening wear, black still leads, but not by any means the unrelieved black of former years—the touch of bright color is obligatory. Then come the fuchsia tones, some with a tinge of blue, and every conceivable shade of violet, mauve and purple.

Vogue uses the color palette in her own inimitable manner and harmonizes a gray-blue with dark brown, pale green with tete de negre, purple with red, plum with pale pink, with great success. These are combinations, however, to which only a past master of the art can aspire without risking sartorial tragedies.

Schiaparelli has taken her season's colors from the hyacinth. The dark hyacinth blue replaces black. As a matter of fact, she has used every possible tone in this range of blues, from the darkest to the lightest. Red is prominent, too, in Schiaparelli's collection, the new tone being called Red Cablage. Pumice gray appears frequently, and black and white for evenings. Tweeds in light browns and blues with a indefinite check figure extensively in the sports clothes, and she has several new diagonal wools and hand woven tweeds.

A striking feature of Schiaparelli's collection is the absence of dull-surfaced fabrics, which are replaced by a shiny jersey with a satin finish called Jersey, a ribbed variety called Jersey and a reversible silk fabric called Cote d'Azur. These are especially attractive in the hyacinth blues.

rell's collection is the absence of dull-surfaced fabrics, which are replaced by a shiny jersey with a satin finish called Jersey, a ribbed variety called Jersey and a reversible silk fabric called Cote d'Azur. These are especially attractive in the hyacinth blues.

Her detachable waistcoat of that wide ruffled ribbon called here "Tohu-Bohu" usually represent the color contrast demanded by the winter mode, as do her knitted ruffles and scarves of ruffled ribbon. These come quite high at the back of the neck and frame the face becomingly.

Mainbocher's contribution to the color contrast feature is both original and new. While his day clothes are youthful but always conservative, his evening gowns, the greater number of which are black, offer a number of ideas the well-dressed woman will welcome, although they demand a great deal of art in the wearing. His slashed evening skirts, for example, sometimes reveal the leg as far as the knee, but this is so cleverly done that it adds interest to the gown. Some of these skirts are made of panels under which another panel in a contrasting color shows as the wearer walks. Or again a black dress will be slashed on one side with one or two irregular panels of two bright colors, such as green and white. Little square fringed shawls, very Spanish in inspiration, are used by Mainbocher as evening scarfs, also supplying, in some cases, the touch of color.

Bruyere's three distinctive colors this season are "erabe," "Cedre" and "Brumes grises," which translated into colors read dark brown, a very dark green with a slight gray tint, and a mist gray. The brown is often combined with vivid yellow, the green with gray and white, and the gray with violet.

With Lanvins pre-Raphaelite blues, Worth's fushias and dress of wine, Patou's medieval brown and tea-rose and all the other colors exclusive to each couturier, women can look forward to the most colorful of winters.

Princess Helen Now in Bucharest

Bucharest, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Former Queen Helen of Rumania, the divorced wife of King Carol, arrived in the Capital today and was escorted to her palace in the small hours of the morning with the greatest secrecy.

Princess Helen was not permitted to come in by the main station, but her royal coach was detached outside of Bucharest and taken around the city.

A special engine was held in readiness for this task and accompanied only by her lady-in-waiting, Princess Helen was greeted by the Chief of Police. This officer escorted her in a waiting automobile to her palace.

Princess Helen's visit to the Capital would have been even more private had the government persisted in its refusal to send a royal coach to the border to meet her.

An order to that effect was rescinded, and the coach was waiting at the boundary when the Simpson express entered the country. In some political circles it was said the new Premier Julia Maniu leader of the National Peasants party, had a hand in forestalling the slight to the King's divorced wife.

Princess Helen had been in London, where her son, Prince Michael, visited her briefly. The visit was terminated after two weeks by King Carol. Reports were that he objected to the publicity resulting from it.

Girl Scout Week To Be Celebrated Oct. 23-29, With 7 Service Days

The popular conception of the Girl Scout as a camper who is inactive as soon as she goes indoors, is annually shattered by the celebration of Girl Scout Week. The week, which is observed the last days of October, usually includes Halloween the birthday of the Founder, Juliette Low.

This year, however, the "Seven Service Days" of Girl Scout Week began with Sunday October 23rd, when Girl Scouts turned out for church parades, attending services of the religions they personally profess. The balance of the week will be devoted to demonstrations of the activities which make up the varied Girl Scout program and exemplify the Girl Scout promise and laws.

Today is Home-making Day, for the business of running a house is perhaps the most important part of a Girl Scout's regular schedule. On this day she shows how well she can cook or care for the baby, by relieving her mother in her own home, or by helping in settlement houses and nurseries.

Demonstrations of Girl Scout handicraft which includes everything from puppet-making to bead work will occupy all of Tuesday. Wednesday will be given over to the practice of thrift in which the Girl Scout shows her skill by the ability to draw up budgets, balance bank accounts and not only save but buy wisely.

Thursday is Hostess Day, when, if she is fortunate enough to have a little house of her own, she plays the role of hostess to her parents and friends. Friday is Community Service Day, when she chooses for herself the best possible way of helping her own town. Saturday is Health Day, when the Girl Scout hikes. Play under the sky—that is her motto, and she does it on all possible occasions, for she knows that the best health insurance to be had comes from having as much sun, air, exercise and sleep as possible.

Mrs. Lloyd Faxon Gave Delightful Reading Before Woman's Club Sat.

The second meeting of the year for the Dixon Woman's Club was held Saturday afternoon, Oct. 22, at the Christian church, and the committee in charge of the program, with Mrs. Willard Thompson as chairman, had a delightful treat in store for the members and guests. Mrs. Lloyd Faxon, of Wilmette, a talented reader of wide experience held the intense interest of her audience throughout the entire program. In a most charming, impressive manner, she gave a version of a play by Browning, "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The play is based on the beautiful love story of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett, and Mrs. Faxon did full justice to the exquisite beauty of the play. Her manner of presentation was natural and effective and her audience felt all the joys and sorrows of the different characters as they were portrayed by this charming artist.

Mrs. C. A. Hospers, who has been Girl Scout executive in Dixon, gave a most interesting talk on the history and work of Girl Scouts.

Halloween Calls For Doughnuts

When economy is of utmost importance, the homemaker will find it well worth her while to cure a ham and shoulder and side of pork at home. It's really very little trouble to cure the meat, and home-cured ham is like a vegetable from our own garden.

Lard, too, can be tried out in one's own kitchen to good advantage, and home-rendered lard is satisfactory in every way.

Of course the smoking can't be accomplished at home but as most butchers have their own arrangements for smoking meats, they are willing to look after this part of the curing for their customers.

There are two common methods of curing pork. "Sugar cured" meats are usually considered the finest. Although those cured in a brine are preferred by some people.

To Sugar Cure Pork

2 1-2 pounds salt
2 1-2 ounces pepper
1-2 ounce salt petre.
1 cup molasses
50 pounds pork
Rub about one tablespoon table salt around the bone of ham or shoulder. Rub both sides of meat with molasses. Mix salt, pepper and salt petre thoroughly and rub well into the meat. Use about one-third of the mixture and let stand three days. Rub two more times at three-day intervals, making the rubbings in all.

Let stand in a cool, dry place for from four to six weeks. The famous Virginia ham is allowed to cure from two and one-half to three months. At the end of the curing period the meat is smoked, or not, as preferred. Hang up in a cool, dry place.

To Cure With Brine

First rub each ham or shoulder with 1 tablespoon powdered salt petre. Rub around the bone with 1 teaspoon black pepper. Mix one and one half pounds of brown sugar with 2 cups salt and rub meat well with this. This quantity is enough for fifty pounds of meat. Put a layer of salt in the bottom of a tub. Put in meat, skin side down. Sprinkle with salt and add more meat. Let stand in this salt for eight days. Take out, wipe off all the salt and wash the tub. Combine five ounces of salt petre, 8 cups molasses, 2 cups salt and 2 gallons of water. Boil and skim. When cool pour over meat in tub. The brine should cover the meat. Let stand in brine four or five weeks, turning meat once a week to be sure it is curing evenly. Bacon will cure in three weeks. Remove from brine and smoke.

"Leaf" lard may be bought in any butcher shop or market and tried out at home. Cut fat in small pieces. Put into large kettle with just enough water to cover bottom of kettle. This prevents scorching when fat is first put over the fire. Cook slowly stirring frequently until the pieces of fat are crisp and crackly.

A BOOK A DAY

Political corruption in America exists, not because some men are wicked and unscrupulous, but because our economic order is based on the profit motive and on special privilege. Politics is corrupted by the business world. Decent city government can only come through a revision of our entire economic order.

So, at any rate, says Norman A. Thomas and Paul Blanshard, in "What's the Matter With New York?"—a sane, painfully clear account of the progress of Tammany corruption in the metropolis.

In the old days the boys simply reached into the city treasury and helped themselves. Then, in the Croker era, they levied tribute from vice and gambling rings. Now they are much less crude, most of their graft is of the "honorable" variety. They sell special favors—revisions in zoning laws, favors in enforcement of the building code, city franchises and so on down the line.

The authors have given the best A-B-C summary of recent New York graft that I have yet seen, and even if you disagree with their conclusions you will find their factual account of what is happening invaluable. They insist that New York's woes are common to every other big city—which, of course, is obvious; and they assert that only a complete change in our form of society can insure clean city government—well, doesn't Lincoln Steffens' autobiography make exactly the same point?

Our dry goods merchants have ads that are well worth studying. Read them.

The superstition surrounding the number 13 is said to go back as far as the ancient Hindus.

DEALS—"NEW," RAW, SQUARE.

The Democratic strategy is to sing a HYMN OF HATE. The party leaders have gone over Franklin Roosevelt's career with a fine tooth comb and can find nothing to sing about.

Therefore the word has gone out: "Slander Hoover; it is our one chance to win."

Franklin D. Roosevelt was a dilettante in politics until he was elected governor of New York State. A patrician silk stocking of patrician silk stockings he finished the usual course of all rich men's sons at college, dabbled a bit in law and then, to occupy his time, ran for the New York Assembly. Being presentable and likeable and rich he became an assistant secretary of the Navy under Woodrow Wilson. This is a soft society plum sought after by those of social position with the money to maintain it.

Hoping to capitalize the ancient family name of Roosevelt—though hardly related to the great T. R. (THE REAL)—the Democrats put him up as a candidate for vice president.

His pitiful efforts in that role to be a swashbuckler almost put him into oblivion.

But the rugged old warrior Al Smith was grooming himself for the Presidency. He picked Roosevelt to be his successor as Governor. The rough and ready Al from the sidewalks of New York needed him for scenic effects. He had social position, the cultural advantages of an old family name and riches. Al picked him as the parsley to the fish.

He was elected governor when Al was defeated. Tammany did not go for Al, one of its offspring, but did go for the patrician High Hat. And now for four years he has been governor of New York, the richest and most populous state in the Union. The question naturally arises, WHAT HAS HE DONE IN NEW YORK?

The answer comes easily and accurately: NOTHING.

For four years he has talked vacuous nothings, has ducked and dodged on every issue. Taxes have rolled up to the highest ever known in that state and he has not even made protest. The scandals of Wall street are at his door unnoticed. He feebly tries to blame these market orgies on President Hoover when the New York stock market is under direct control of the Governor's office.

Wise Democratic leaders knew him to be a weakling, a smiling Pollyanna without courage to take a stand on any issue. They knew how he had hedged and cringed on the Tammany scandals in New York, how he had publicly abused Judge Seabury for his work in uncovering the scandals of Mayor Walker. It was only after the work had been done that the investigators of Walker got any support from him. He was content to come in at the death. The Democratic leaders knew all this.

That is why they opposed him to Chicago. Every Democratic leader who knew him and had the welfare of the country at heart opposed him.

Al Smith denounced him as a demagogue.

Walter Lippmann said that nothing in his record as Governor warranted his consideration as President.

Not for nothing is he known to the newspaper correspondents at Washington and Albany as the "feather-duster" and the "boy scout."

He is finishing his campaign, a pitiful figure as a statesman, without having taken a single stand on any one of the great issues that confront his countrymen; a mere pussy-footing politician content to duck and dodge on every question; content to fool the people by pretended answers that reveal nothing.

Knowing all this the Democrats have mapped their course.

Their strategy is the HYMN OF HATE.

"Keep them hating Hoover," is the order from headquarters. "Make them hate Hoover and we can put Roosevelt across. Don't waste any time trying to glorify Roosevelt. We cannot win by talking about him. Forget him and hate Hoover."

Therefore the big guns pour forth their POISONED ATTACKS upon the President of the United States. The same guns that were used to enflame the populace against President McKinley until an assassin's bullet ended his life.

"Assail Hoover! Slander! Villify! Lie!"

"Whisper false stories of his past, about his present. Picture him in every light that is evil and wrong."

It is the same strategy used by the COPPERHEADS when Abraham Lincoln was going through Gethsemane that this Nation might be saved.

It is the campaign now.

Slander the President!

To the shame of America the President of the United States speaking at Cleveland had to defend his personal honor from the slanders of the Democratic National Committee's text book—read and approved by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

It is the hope of Roosevelt and his supporters to sing their hymn of hate until by sheer madness the people vote not for Roosevelt but AGAINST their President who has stood heroically against the plunderers of his people and has fought to bring back to them their comforts.

Roosevelt has not offered one vestige of a remedy. He has not offered one coherent suggestion for relief. He has offered nothing and he plans to offer nothing.

The whole strategy is to capitalize to commercialize the world's economic trouble in an effort to misrepresent our President.

Consider well this fact: Not one note has been struck by the Democratic party reviewing the record of Franklin Roosevelt; not one word of comment has been made on any issue which he has espoused. There can be none, for he has been as silent and as inert as the dusty tombs of Egypt.

Can a Presidency be achieved by one WHO OFFERS NOTHING BUT HATE?

There is a love of fair play in America, a recognition of the raw deal, an instinctive protest against hitting below the belt.

President Hoover has been the victim of these tactics. Franklin Roosevelt talks glibly about a "new" deal. What he is handing Hoover is a NEW LOW IN RAW DEALS.

Every right thinking American, every lover of T. R.'s old formula, "the Square Deal," should stand by the President, unswayed by the vicious copperhead tactics of the Hearst-MacFadden-McAdoo-Roosevelt type of slanderous campaigning.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The sun kept sending down its heat and to the Tinies 'twas no treat. The big umbrella sheltered them till day turned into night.

Into the open they all ran and Scouty shouted, "Now we can put Indian clubs and dumbbells in the box. We'll be all right."

They all dashed out and went to work. 'Twas getting dark. They couldn't shirk if they intended to get through while all of them could see.

The rushing made it lots of fun and Duncy soon cried, "It's all done! Now I am rather tired out and soon sleep appeals to me."

"A good idea," Windy cried. "Come on, we'll flop down, side by side. Here is a dandy pile of leaves. They'll be just like a bed." They turned right in and squirmed around and soon they all were sleeping sound. At dawn the knowledge bug came near. "Get up!" it loudly said.

"Another day is here and you can make another wish come true, if you will use your magic oil." "Hurrah," we Duncy cried.

"I really think your lunch is great and, frankly, I can hardly wait until I oil up something that will give us all a ride."

"I'll pour some on the box and then we may sail on our way again." The Tinies watched! To their surprise, the box began to change.

It shortly was a flying horse which tickled everyone, of course. The dumbbells and the Indian clubs had disappeared. How strange!

The knowledge bug yelled, "Well, hey! You'll fly to where you've never been. The horse's body's still a box and you will fit in there."

"Will we be safe?" scared Windy cried. "Will that old horse mind, if we ride?" The knowledge bug replied, "Oh, there is naught to bring a scare."

ALLIES ROUT GERMANS

On Oct. 24, 1918, the Americans attacked east of the Meuse and reached the Freya position, after having advanced on a 15-mile front on Oct. 23 to take Brielle, Tania farm and other points north of Banterville.

British forces drove the Germans back on the whole front between the Sambre Canal and the Scheldt, capturing several strongholds on both sides of Valenciennes.

In the Italian campaign, allied forces began an offensive between the Brenta and Piave rivers.

On Oct. 23, President Wilson had replied to Germany's suggestion for an armistice, calling for surrender and expressing doubt as to the popularization of the German government. The President announced the question of an armistice had been submitted to the allied governments.

One Sure Way to End Coughs and Colds

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. consequent development of a disproportion between the growth of bone and of muscle bulk and strength.

An equally important factor in the development of scoliosis may be the imposition upon the young of excessive strains. The boy and girl appear bigger and stronger than they actually are.

Lack of fresh air, sunshine, proper food and exercise, in that they weaken the body as a whole may contribute to the development of spinal curvature.

Spinal curvature should not be considered in terms of merely rounded or uneven shoulders. Quite frequently the curvature of the spine is in several directions, not only from right to left and left to right, forward and backward, but also rotationally.

The vertebrae may actually twist and become misshapen, causing dislocation of internal organs, improper development of the chest and tilting and distortion of the pelvis.

Tomorrow—Gastric Acidity.

Herald From Headquarters Of Herbert Hoover

The designation of the Democratic nominee as a "gentleman farmer" has proved perplexing in some parts of the country, according to the Hon. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior.

"Somebody asked me about it during one of the speeches," the tall, lanky California ex-college prexy says, "and I told him a 'gentleman farmer' was a man who thinks a dry cow is in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment."

The Democratic nominee started westward the other day, apparently running on the Democratic platform. At least he got lost and wandered around over southwestern Ohio, finally winding up in Cincinnati when he was scheduled to be in Springfield. Tough, when a man can't even keep on the right railroad. And yet there are people who think they could find the way back to prosperity!

The corn market has been in a bad way for some time and corn growers in the great middle western section are suffering. No one questions that.

BUT—the Democratic Underwood tariff act put corn on the free list. All that is keeping American corn out of the country today to still further demoralize the market, is the Republican tariff of 25 cents a bushel. Take that away, as Governor Roosevelt's friends would do, and South American corn can be laid down in New York for around 18 cents a bushel. dcmcc, aallojcm, vc?Eota.S mme

The price, because of world-wide depression and other causes, may be low—but at least the Republican party says the American farmer shall have the American market, and that all of it.

A little story of the conversion of a woman voter comes from Summit, N. J. She had listened to several of the Democratic candidate's speeches. She heard the President's great address at Des Moines and Cleveland. As the applause died away after his concluding words at Cleveland, she turned to her husband and, with deep conviction, remarked:

"Hoover will see us through."

That same conviction that in the President lies our hope of continued progress toward economic recovery is sweeping the country. You hear it everywhere, from all classes. An elevator operator in a Chicago office building, seeing a red, white and blue Hoover badge in my lapel yesterday remarked:

"That's a good label. We can't afford to change now." A few minutes later a visitor told of a luncheon group to which he belonged, consisting of nine business men. Last June, he said, they were unanimous for Roosevelt. Today they have changed and every one is going to vote for Hoover. The Des Moines and Cleveland speeches brought about the change.

The Democratic nominee stated at Pittsburgh that his position on the soldiers' bonus was the same as it had been last spring when he wrote a letter to somebody somewhere about it.

"That," commented Ray Lyman Wilbur, Secretary of the Interior, "was front page news, for when Governor Roosevelt doesn't change his mind on a subject for six consecutive months, THAT is news!"

Franklin D. Roosevelt's claim that his letters represent his policies may let him in for some embarrassment. In fact, in the same week he claimed an old letter represented his bonus stand he had to disavow another letter on the claim that he signed without reading it.

That was a letter to a Cuban mercantile house, which had written to congratulate him on his stand in favor of Cuban sugar growers and against American beet sugar farmers. Roosevelt replied, over his own signature, expressing appreciation at the way his "political ideals" found favor in foreign lands.

The beet sugar crop in three western states, including Utah, Colorado and Idaho, is bringing to farmers this year more than $6,000,000 in ready cash. If Gov. Roosevelt had his way and the sugar tariff was slashed 90 per cent, as he proposes to slash it, those beet sugar growers would be unable to compete with Cuban sugar cane, raised by cheap Cuban labor.

Dixon high, successful in holding Sterling to a scoreless tie here Saturday, must come out on top against DeKalb this week-end, if local fans are to enjoy two consecutive North Central titles. The B team also is on the spot, with DeKalb's seconds as yet undefeated. The home crew took Sterling 9 to 0 to remain in the lead.

Last Saturday DeKalb won out of Mendota by scores of 13-0 in both games. Belvidere's heaviest copped from Rochelle 13-0, while Rochelle ponies were ahead by 6-0. October 29 sees DeKalb playing at Dixon, in the only conference game scheduled. Belvidere and Mendota have open dates. Sterling plays Sterling Community on Friday, while Mt. Morris performs in Rochelle.

Against Sterling last Saturday, C. B. Lindell's boys put on a performance far below their usual standard of play and were fortunate enough to pull out with a 0-0 score. It was the first time in ten appearances that Dixon failed to emerge with a victory. It also placed a temporary halt to the winning streak which, it is hoped will be resumed versus DeKalb. However, a ray of sunshine in the gloomy afternoon's contest is the supposition that Dixon was due for an off-day. It was not unexpected as the locals could not do the impossible and win every start. This scoreless tie should be the proper medicine to have the team ready to renew their championship form and stop DeKalb. Any signs of over-confidence were banished and the realization that they can be outplayed will arouse the squad to a "do-or-die" spirit for the huge Barb eleven, on the coming week-end.

The whole story of the Sterling game in a "nut-shell" is: Sterling twelve first downs; Dixon, one first down. Utter lack of blocking almost led Dixon to a defeat. Credit must be given the Sterling eleven. Their play was inspired and the backfield showed ability to move behind a powerful line. The Dixon forward wall was entirely out of order. On repeated occasions Lightner was forced to kick in haste with the Sterling continually pouring through and rushing him. It was a meager show by Dixon's veteran linemen, especially considering that Reiger was a reserve playing in place of the regular Sterling guard, Mills. Also Sterling was weakened when Bill Hendricks was forced from the game with injuries in the second quarter.

Dixon should have been off to a flying start. After receiving the kickoff they advanced to the local 43 yard line and then punted. Hendricks was back to receive the kick but fumbled the ball and the punt recovered for Dixon at Sterling's 18 yard line. A Kennedy failed to gain on a spinner, but Lightner went to the 9 yard mark on the next play. Strong was thrown for a five-yard loss. On the fourth down Henry's pass to Strong was incomplete and the opportunity was lost. Another point in Dixon's favor which also proved to be of little value, was F. Kennedy's blocking Terhune's kick, the ball bounding outside on Sterling's 30 yard line. On the first play Shaw intercepted Dixon's pass and it was all over as far as Dixon was concerned.

From there until the finish it was defensive Dixon. Offensive Sterling Lightner's kicking, of a flimsy nature in spots, served to pull Dixon out of further trouble weakened as the goal was neared.

The most spirited drive of the day was propelled by Sterling in the third period. Starting from their 16 yard line Sterling worked down on three plays to mid-field. They stretched the march to 68 yards when Dixon finally held for downs on its 16 yard line. Lightner immediately kicked out of danger. A few plays later, and again Sterling was off to as far as Dixon's 4 yard line when a penalty for illegal use of the hands was inflicted. A 15-yard setback was the result which aided Dixon considerably. The remainder of the game was confined to punting practice with neither outfit having the edge.

Dixon tried four passes, three of which hit terra firma and the other was intercepted. Dixon was penalized once for 15 yards, and recovered two of its three fumbles. Sterling's record shows a gain of 15 yards on the only completed pass in five attempts. A penalty column of 35 yards, three fumbles, with Dixon taking possession of the on them.

At the weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club the plan of a public address system was suggested and Saturday, through the cooperation of the Dixon High School Association, and Chester Barriaghe the idea was successfully carried out. It is hoped that the crowd may be better informed in this manner of the identity of players, position of ball, plays, penalties, officials decisions, etc.

B Team Game

A good brand of football was viewed in the preliminary in which Dixon triumphed 9-0. This gives the second string a claim to fame, it being their fifth straight win. Savanna and Rochelle last year; Mendota, Belvidere and Sterling thus far in the 1932 schedule. The DeKalb-Dixon second-string result should decide the N. C. C. minor division championship.

In the opening period Dixon had the ball on its 42 yard line. On fourth down Bovey punted. The Sterling safety, Powell, let the ball bound toward the goal and as it approached the end zone he attempted to retrieve it and run it back. He juggled the ball long enough to allow Lowell Whitebread, Dixon tackle, to smother the oval behind the goal for a touchdown. Underwood's pretty dropkick made it 7-0.

Northwestern Ties Purdue in Last Two Minutes

A last minute drive in the fourth quarter gave Northwestern University 7 points to tie Purdue in their game at Evanston, Ill. Two of the men who enabled the Wildcats to score are shown above, Rentner with the ball, Potter (27) at the right, as they tried to get through the Boilermaker line earlier in the game. In the fourth quarter a pass from Rentner to Potter climaxed the drive for a touchdown.

missed Henry's pass on the final down and it was Sterling's ball on their 14 yard line. Sterling's initial offensive attempt was good for 14 yards on a nice run by Shaw. Terhune hit center to the 30 yard white stripe. Recovering his fumble Terhune lost a scrimmage line. A yard was added by Shaw before Terhune punted outside on Dixon's 25 yard line. On the first down on Sterling's 38 yard line, F. Kennedy hit Terhune for a yard loss. Terhune failed to make anything over Bates. Gebhardt took a lateral from Moore and tossed a forward to Andrews but it was grounded. It was Dixon's ball on downs. Lightner was stopped for a loss of three yards. On the next play Lightner didn't gain. Lightner's punt rolled out on Sterling's 45 yard line. Terhune made two yards. Another pretty run by Shaw made it first and ten on Dixon's 44. Kennedy blocked Terhune's punt and the ball bounded out on Sterling's 30 yard line. Dixon's chances were lost when Shaw intercepted Henry's pass and returned to Sterling's 33 yard line. Terhune made a yard but the visitors were off side on the play and lost five yards. Kohl rang up a 3 yard gain. Potts tackled Moore on Sterling's 16 yard line and then the would be victory march began. On a spinner Terhune displayed great running form by going 13 yards to the 29 yard line. The Dixon line left a gaping hole for Terhune on his gallop. The forwards also caved in for Shaw who ran 17 yards to his 46. Kohl made it four more to the 50 yard line. Into Dixon territory to the 45 yard stripe went Terhune. Shaw made it three first downs in a row to Dixon's 43 yard line. Showing a little more opposition Dixon stopped Terhune after a three yard gain. Shaw made it number four with a nine yard jaunt to Dixon's 31 yard line. Kohl stopped on the 26; Terhune made two yards and then repeated for the fifth first down on Dixon's 20 yard line. Dixon finally aroused enough to stop Terhune for no gain but Shaw continued the rampage by going to the 16 yard line. Neither Shaw nor Terhune could make it first down and Dixon took the ball on its 16 yard line. Moore received Lightner's punt and was stopped by Strong in mid-field. A smart defensive lineman would rather have a leaning half-back in the enemy backfield than a set of their signals.

Games have been lost and the coaches have lost their minds over a brilliant ball-carrier who could not keep from giving the attack away by leaning in the direction of the play before the ball was snapped.

Out at Iowa University in a practice scrimmage one day, the offensive team was being smothered on every play, blocked at every turn. Three and four tacklers were getting the ball-carrier before he could reach the line of scrimmage. Suddenly Coach B. A. Ingwersen discovered the trouble. The right halfback was "leaning" and giving away the plays as he waited for the center to snap the ball.

"Say," yelled Coach Ingwersen as the halfback repeated his unconscious act of treason, "you're leaning on that play and tipping off the defense."

Came this unexpected reply. "No, I'm not, coach. I don't know where that play is supposed to go myself."

Williamson Leads
Big Ten Scorers

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Stanley Fay of Michigan was unable, because of injuries to defend the position of Big Ten football scoring leader in the conference competition Saturday, but another Wolverine, Captain Ivan Williamson, took over the job.

Williamson grabbed two of Harry Newman's passes for touchdowns against Illinois, giving him a total of 18 points. Fay dropped into a tie for second place with George Potter of Northwestern. Ver of Indiana, Roy Horstmann of Purdue, Ted Petoskey, another Michigan star, and Brad Robinson Minnesota end, all having scored 12 points.

Only two field goals have been scored in conference games. Newman, Michigan's quarterback, making one against Northwestern, and Pittsburgh Lyons, Indiana's big Negro end, getting one against Iowa.

match against Young Tommy of the Philippines at Oakland, Cal., Wednesday night. The next night, Kid Chocolate, junior lightweight and, so far as New York state is concerned, featherweight champion, battles Harry Biltman of Philadelphia at Detroit. Neither of Chocolate's titles will be at stake. On Friday, at Boston, George A. Nichols, of Buffalo, recognized as light heavyweight champion by the National Boxing Association, tangles with Adolph Heuser, of Germany.

Two old-time heavyweights, big George Godfrey, Leipsville, Pa., Negro, and Tom Heene of New Zealand, return to the ring this week. Godfrey faces Al Fay, of Charleroi, Pa., at Philadelphia tonight, and Heene meets John Schwake of St. Louis in that city tomorrow night.

and the council passed the ordinance. We were actuated to do this from the evidence thus obtained, and the city council took the first steps toward the municipalization of the water works, the fine and generous provisions of the statute in enabling cities to acquire water works is as follows:

Statute Provisions
"Revenue bonds issued under the provisions of this statute shall be payable solely from the revenues derived from such water works system and such bonds shall not in any event constitute an indebtedness of such municipality within the meaning of the constitutional provisions or limitations and it shall be plainly stated on the face of each bond that it does not constitute an indebtedness of such city, village or incorporated town within any constitutional or statutory limitation."

Under this statute in no case and under no circumstances will the city, the taxpayers or the city property or the water works property become liable for the payment for the $520,000.00 which the city council has agreed to pay the Water Company for the water works. Under section five of the ordinance, the second paragraph provides:

"Said bonds together with the interest thereon shall be payable solely from the revenues derived from the water works system of said city and such bonds shall not in any event constitute an indebtedness of the city of Dixon within the meaning of any constitutional or statutory limitations. The bonds will provide as follows:

"This bond is payable solely from revenues derived from the water works system of said city and not otherwise."
Thereby, by statute, by ordinance and by the conditions of the bonds the city and the taxpayer will not be obligated to pay a single dollar and the indebtedness will not be an indebtedness of the city and the payments on the bonds will be solely from the revenues of the water works.

Says Wingert Errs
Mr. Wingert entirely erroneously, to say the least, says that the city will have to pay more than $520,000.00 as the purchase price of the water works. His juggling of figures proves nothing. The contract is $520,000.00. $520,000.00 buys the water works, not a cent more or less. There will be added to the $520,000.00 the expense of $5,000 which includes commissions, engineers' salary, publishing of ordinance, preparation of bonds and all incidental expenses in the consummation of the deal and will make the price paid for the water works and expenses $525,000.00. McNear & Company will turn over to the city $525,000. The city will then pay to the stockholders of the Dixon Water Company $520,000.00, leaving a balance of $5,000.00 with which to pay all of the incidental expenses, engineers salary for valuating the property, attending the meetings and assisting in negotiation of the purchase of the water work. It is plain from this that the city pays nothing for the water works or the expense of obtaining the same. This is all paid from the revenues of the water works in the future until the bonds are paid off and not to exceed thirty-five (35) years. The revenue of the water works will be bonded for $520,000.00 and not a single cent more. The rate of interest of the bond will be 5.95 percent. The bonds will draw 5 percent. The $69,000.00 of bonds is the difference between $525,000.00 and $594,000.00 bond is the amount of the interest of ninety-five hundredths percent which is omitted from the bonds and accounts for the ninety-five hundredths percent interest as provided by contract. The ninety-five hundredths percent on an indebtedness of $525,000.00 for thirty-five (35) years is represented in the $69,000.00 extra bonds. We have figured this out and find that it will be a saving by this method of $500.00 to the water consumers. If you figure 5.95 percent on $595,000.00 less payment to $500.00 more than find per cent on $594,000.00 less payment for a term of 35 years. The reason of this change is that the McNear & Company desires to float 5 percent bonds rather than 5.95 percent bonds. It is plain therefore, that Mr. Wingert's juggling of figures vanishes in thin air when tested by the real facts of the case.

Tax Cash Remains
The criticism that the city will lose the tax on the waterworks which is claimed to be $2700.00 paid by the company to the city has no foundation in fact. The Water Company pay that tax out of the revenue of the water works. Under city ownership there will be no tax paid and the $2700.00 as taxes will not be drawn from the water revenues but remain there. It may be pleasing to some gentlemen to draw $2700.00 out of the revenues of the city in one department and pay it right back to the city in another department. This is clear. The city neither gains or loses by the transaction. It is like taking money out of your left pants pocket and transferring it to your right pants pocket.

Is It Desirable to Purchase the Water Works?
We are paying $75,000 a year water rent. If we do not purchase this plant, we will pay $75,000.00 the next 35 years and have nothing at the end. If we purchase it for $525,000.00 all told, with interest at 5.95 per cent, at the end of 35 years the City of Dixon will own a plant worth at least $525,000.00 with the great probability that at the end of 35 years, if the city grows as we hope, and it has in the last 35 years, the city will own a water works worth more than $800,000. Every year under the proposed plan the water works will pay off an average of $15,000 of the principal. The city will be worth $15,000 more every year. It will cost the city nothing and the consumer of water nothing. The consumers will pay the same rate for water, whether the company is purchased or not. In the one case we pay without the hopes of any return. In the case of purchase we pay our water rent quarterly with the positive knowledge that $15,000 of it, at least, will be applied on the purchase price of the water works. The meter rate will be limited. This is desirable? The City Council says "yes." You say, "How do you know that you can pay off $15,000 each year?" Here are the facts, the income of the water works today is $75,000, the running expense of the water works now is $31,000, leaving a balance of $44,000. The $44,000 is consumed at present, by paying dividends amounting to $12,000, charges and fees to the Illinois Commerce Commission paid by the water company, $1,200 and interest on the company's indebtedness is to be charged in here. This amount, together with $2,700 taxes will all be saved by the city. The city will be able to save the $1,200 Commerce Commission's fees. We will be able to save $2,700 taxes that the water company now pays, we will also be able to save the upkeep and expenses of running the office building and the dwelling house which comes to the city in the purchase of the water works. We will also be able to save about $4,000 paid in salary to various employees and officers which will not be needed. The office of the water company will be transferred to the City Hall, and many employees will be unnecessary. The value of the dwelling house and the business lot which comes to the city in this deal will be sold and the purchase price will be applied to paying off the bonds. From these items alone, the city will be able to cut off from the operating expense of the water works more than $7,900 and there-by have this amount now spent by the water company, to be used in the improvement of the plant, or the payment of bonds. We will be able to reduce the bonded indebtedness by city ownership of between $8,000 and $10,000, the value of the business block and dwelling house acquired by the city from the water company.

It is said by some that supposing some great catastrophe happens and great damage is done to the water works, then what are you going to do? Our answer is: the owners of the stock can go into the Circuit Court and ask that the rates be raised to provide for the repairs. We further say, that if the same catastrophe should happen—and it would, if it happened under city ownership, if the water works is owned by the present owners, they would go before the Commerce Commission, set up the facts, and the Commerce Commission would raise the rates for the same purpose of repairing the damage done.

Again, these gentlemen, who are thinking about catastrophes ought to remain home every morning, because, if a great catastrophe might happen and they would be killed. Therefore, they should always stay home.

It is further said that the water rates may be raised if the city takes over the plant. They can show no reason for the rise. Our answer is, that to secure such a raise, they must go into the Circuit Court of Lee County, and have the matter determined by a jury of our own people. The same cause that would require a raise in rate if the city owned the plant would require a raise if the present owners still owned the plant.

The company would go to the Commerce Commission, that political body which has dealt so unfairly with all the cities in the state. The question is, would you prefer to have your rates determined by Judge Edwards, an upright and honorable judge on the bench, and a Lee County jury, or by political office holders at Springfield whose ears have ever been attuned only by the voice of the politician, and who never hear the protests of the people against exorbitant rates?

It is said that some municipal owned water works have failed. This proves nothing. The cities of Amboy, Princeton, Rochelle, Ashton, Franklin Grove, DeKalb, Polo and Forreston, have public ownership of their water works. Still there has been no failure in those cities. There has been ten bank failures in these same cities, therefore, by the same token, there should be no banks. There is no merit in this argument. There will be more to follow on this subject.

H. A. Brooks.

Our dear one is not truly dead. For nothing good and beautiful can die! Let us who mourn, believe, instead, An eager spirit merely chose to fly.

Away to realms we do not know. Let us believe that joy and lasting peace Are waiting there, and those who go Find greater happiness, and sweet release From grief. Think that the same glad smile That blessed and cheered you here day after day Will greet you in the after-life. Your dear one is not dead, but just away.

"Swergin would be a lot safer to play with than that man Ball," Dudley cut in.

Dona did not answer but her hand slipped to her father's knee. She knew what Dudley was thinking about. He must have heard of her part in letting the killer escape.

"Swergin is used to handling two-fisted men who are a hard lot," Asper went on.

"I want you to quit Three Rivers. The Delo Timber Company doesn't need this cutting. You told me it paid poorly." Dona was very much in earnest.

"And let that bully have the laugh on you!" Dudley put in sourly.

"Dudley about sizes it up," Asper spoke slowly. "But we're leaving Three Rivers for good day after tomorrow."

Dona looked at Dudley and saw that he was gazing moodily into the sunset. She did not

INTERSECTIONAL GAMES ON SLATE COMING SATURDAY

Many Undefeated Teams To Clash On Gridiron This Week End

New York, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Conference games will be all but abandoned this week as the nation's football leaders engage in the biggest slate of intersectional games of the season.

The Midwest and east will be the principal storm centers with nearly a dozen battles involving teams from different sections of the football battlefield.

Heading all the rest is the duel of the undefeated arrays of Pittsburgh and Notre Dame in the Pitt Stadium. Notre Dame, which has averaged 59 points in its first three games, will be a top-heavy favorite especially in view of Pitt's disappointing scoreless tie with Ohio State, but the Panthers should give the Ramblers plenty of opposition.

Other eastern intersectional pairings include Syracuse and Michigan State, conqueror last week of Fordham; New York University and Purdue, undefeated member of the Big Ten; Army and William & Mary, which holds a decision over the Navy; Oglethorpe of Atlanta and Manhattan, and George Washington and Iowa of the Big Ten. Latter game will be played Friday night.

Games In Midwest
In the Midwest, Michigan, leader and favorite in the Big Ten, battles Princeton, West Virginia plays Marquette and Indiana takes its stand against Mississippi A. and M. Detroit will face Georgetown Friday night.

Within the major conferences the situation after last week's games might be summarized as follows:

East—Colgate, Penn, Harvard, Brown, Columbia, Pittsburgh, Holy Cross, Cornell and Temple the major undefeated leaders with Colgate looking the best after its sensational showing against New York University. Cornell and Columbia, and Harvard and Brown are paired against one another this week. Colgate plays a weak Penn State eleven, Penn meets Navy and Holy Cross faces Catholic, one of the smaller undefeated teams.

Wolverines Favored
Big Ten—Michigan the unquestioned leader and favored to win its remaining conference games with Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota and gain the title outright. Chicago, with one conference victory against no defeats, plays Illinois this week. Minnesota meets Northwestern and Ohio State battles Wisconsin.

South—Tennessee, Auburn, Virginia Poly, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Louisiana State all undefeated in the conference with Tennessee and Auburn conceding the best chance of finishing with perfect records. Ten conference games on this week's slate: Tennessee-Duke, Auburn-Mississippi, Louisiana State-Sewanee, North Carolina State-Tulane, South Carolina-Tulane, Virginia Poly-Washington & Lee, Kentucky-Alabama, Georgia-Florida, Maryland-Virginia Military, and Vanderbilt-Georgia Tech.

Southwest—Texas Christian and

Our Present Senator For State Auditor

Senator Harry G. Wright.

Ratification of the amendment to the state banking laws to allow receivers to borrow for the purpose of paying larger dividends more quickly to the depositors of closed banks, should be supported by every voter in the state, says Harry G. Wright, Republican candidate for Auditor of Public Accounts.

Mr. Wright is making an active campaign on behalf of the amendment and has been endorsed by the Allied Bank Depositors Committee, representing 114,000 depositors in closed banks.

The Bank Committee has adopted resolutions commending Sen. Wright for getting the amendment through the legislature at the present special session. "Sen. Wright by his actions, rather than words, is proving that he is an intelligent and sincere friend of the 2,000,000 citizens of Illinois who have their funds tied up in closed state banks," the resolution stated.

At present receivers of closed state banks are unable to get funds from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for payment to depositors because the state law does not permit them to borrow on the assets of the banks. Under the amendment, if it is ratified by popular vote, the receivers can pledge a considerable part of the $250,000,000 in assets in closed banks and pay the money to the depositors without further delay.

Sen. Wright points out in all of his campaign speeches.

Pacific—U. C. L. A., nominal co-leader with Southern California, takes on Stanford in biggest game of the day. If the Bruins get past Stanford they may finish the conference season unbeaten and share the top with Southern California, assuming the latter wins from California, Oregon and Washington.

Washington State and Montana meet in only other conference game this week.

Rock Mountain—Utah, favored to win title for fifth consecutive year, resumes conference competition against the Utah Aggies. Colorado Aggies, undefeated but tied by Denver, play Colorado College and Wyoming faces Brigham Young in other conference games.

WITH BIG TEN TEAMS

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—While future opponents ponder on ways and means of stopping Michigan's rush toward the Western Conference football championship, the Wolverines will meet Princeton Saturday in the top game of the Big Ten's biggest intersectional program.

Purdue, one of the three undefeated teams in the conference will go east to meet New York University, and the University of Iowa will meet George Washington University at Washington Friday night.

The fourth intersectional tilt will be played at Bloomington where Indiana will meet Mississippi State College.

Heading the championship schedule will be Northwestern's invasion of Minnesota. Flanking it will be the meeting of Ohio State and Wisconsin at Columbus and the annual battle between Illinois and Chicago at Stagg Field.

Northwestern failed to get full revenge from Purdue for last year's charity game defeat, but the Wildcats did rally in time Saturday to gain a 7 to 7 draw and leave Michigan with almost a clear path to the title. Purdue probably will not lose another conference engagement, but that tie, in the event that Michigan conquers Indiana, Chicago and Minnesota in its remaining championship games, would leave the Wolverines in undisputed possession of the title.

Michigan Looks Certain
Michigan, apparently gaining momentum, dealt Illinois a 32 to 9 beating Saturday, and unless the Hoosiers, Maroons or Gophers develop unexpected power, the championship will land in Ann Arbor.

Careers Two Candidates For Senate Similar

Chicago, Oct. 24.—(AP)—Two veterans in Illinois politics whose careers have virtually paralleled each other's for years are opposed for election to the United States Senate.

Senator Otis F. Glenn, the Republican incumbent, has served one term; William H. Dieterich, the Democratic nominee, obtained his experience in national statesmanship in the House of Representatives.

Both men came suddenly into national political prominence—Glenn upon election to the Senate in 1928; Dieterich when he went into Congress two years later and almost immediately launched an attack on the prohibition laws, Illinois.

Even with two regular halfbacks, Stan Fay and Jack Heston, out with injuries, Michigan shifted its power around and swamped the Illinois team without difficulty.

The Northwestern-Purdue game was just another example of the Boilermakers' unhappy inability to turn yardage into touchdowns. Purdue outgained the Wildcats, 11 first down to four, but got only their customary one touchdown. Held scoreless until the closing minutes, Northwestern scored on Pug Renter's pass to George Potter to gain a tie.

Chicago's 13 to 7 victory over Indiana amounted to a wild upset. The Hoosiers were rated as more powerful but the Maroons snatched both their scoring opportunities and at the finish staged a sensational Hoosier passing attack. Minnesota did about as expected in beating Iowa, 21 to 6, but the Hawkeyes had the consolation of scoring on a conference opponent for the first time since 1929.

Ohio State a huge disappointment in early major games, held one of the east, best eleven, Pittsburgh, to a scoreless tie, while Wisconsin mowed Coe down so easily, 39 to 0, that Coach Clarence Spears gave the Badgers a practice session after the game.

In the present campaign, both have made economy in government a major issue, with Dieterich opposed particularly to bureaucracy in government. The Federal Farm Board, and other federal bureaus which he contends place the government in business.

"Reconstruction of agriculture and industry must not be hampered by the interfering activities of governmental bureaus and commissions," he said recently. "It can be accomplished not by nursing favored financial groups but only by government assistance in common sense ways."

"Republican financial policies, including mismanagement of the Federal Reserve system to take money out of Wall Street, was a direct cause of the depression. Such policies, together with the bureaucracy that adds millions of dollars yearly to the nation's tax bill, must be removed from the federal government."

Senator Glenn, in making economy in government a major issue, has referred often during his campaign to measures sponsored in the Democratic House of the Congressional session just ended.

"Measures sponsored by that Democratic leadership," he said, "would needlessly have cost the public millions of dollars. The Republican Senate and administration saved that money."

"In addition, under Republican leadership, measures providing for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and other constructive relief bills that have started the nation toward prosperity were passed."

"A Republican Congress and a Republican administration are needed to continue the great work already started."

In a number of speeches on behalf of the national ticket, Senator Glenn also has attacked Democratic proposals for tariff revision, declaring 90 per cent of the United States market for both manufactured and agricultural products is at home, and that lowering of tariff walls would flood the nation with foreign goods.

Senator Glenn was born at Mattoon, Ill., in 1879, was graduated from the University of Illinois Law School, served as Jackson County State's Attorney, was Republican leader in the state Senate for one term, went to the United States Senate in 1928, and was re-nominated in 1932.

Dieterich also was born downtown, at Cooperstown, Ill., in 1875, was graduated from Northern Indiana Law School, became County Judge of Schuyler county, was a special inheritance tax attorney for the federal government, served in the Spanish-American War, went to the legislature for one term, and was elected Congressman-at-Large in 1930.
